DETAILED ACTION

In view of the amendments to the claims the earlier rejections under 35 USC 112, paragraphs one and two are withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Maher or Bhatia in view of MEDLINE AN 2000050292 (Kelly) for the reasons given in the Paper of June 25, 2003.

Applicant argues that none of the references suggest subcutaneous or intra-arterial administration of CHD in the treatment of a diseased subject. This is not persuasive. Kelly discloses subcutaneous administration of CHD, and once a route of administration is known in the art it is within the skill of the artisan to select the optimum route of administration. Subcutaneous administration would be advantageous because it is easier and more comfortable for the patient to administer a drug subcutaneously than to administer it via gavage or intravenously.

In the absence of a showing of unexpected results using this route of administration, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to administer CHD subcutaneously, because Kelly teaches this route of administration and it advantages as a route of administration when compared with gavage or intravenous administration.

Action is Final

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
